

Law Firm Offers Free App To Determine Valid Trade Secret or Non-Compete

A new informational app for the iPad and iPhone to help employers and employees better understand what is a trade secret or a covenant not to compete has been released by Balough Law Offices, LLC.

The Trade Secrets app allows employers and employees to follow a road map of simple questions to help them determine if they have a trade secret and whether e trade secret is adequately protected. In addition, the app presents questions on if there might be a valid covenant not to compete in states where such covenants are enforceable.

The app allows the user to respond to questions either as an employer or an employee. The app does not provide legal advice but is an educational tool for employers, employees, and persons seeking a new job who may have been exposed to trade secret information.

The free app is available at <http://itunes.apple.com/au/app/trade-secrets/id522581603>.
