New Website for Community Bank Directors

On Friday, February 1, 2010, the Federal Reserve Board announced a new website, www.bankdirectorsdesktop.org, designed to provide assistance primarily to community bank directors. The site contains three sections:

- (1) on-line training with materials on regulatory structure, compliance, safety and soundness, and supervisory actions:
- (2) Basics for Bank Directors, a 128 page handbook developed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City; and
- (3) a collection of regulatory resources for directors.

Banks may want to inform their directors of this site and/or use it as a resource for director training. The site will also provide an excellent overview of the director function for new and prospective directors.
