All Americans deserve to be protected from environmental health hazards. That is why last week, the Justice Department, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the White House Council on Environmental Quality announced an agreement and signed a "Memorandum of Understanding on Environmental Justice and Executive Order 12898" (EJ MOU). As part of this agreement, federal [...]

July 19, 2010, while patrolling in East St. Louis, WAVE agents saw individuals standing near 79th and State near a vehicle parked in an alley. WAVE decided to make consensual contact. When Brown was approached, he was holding a box of chicken. He handed the box to one of the agents and advised that he had a firearm in his back pocket.

The case resulted from the efforts of the WAVE (Working Against Violent Elements) Task Force, which focuses its efforts on combating violent crime in East St. Louis, Washington Park, and surrounding communities. WAVE was formed in November, 2009, and is a collaboration of law enforcement officers from the Illinois State Police, the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGSI), the St. Clair County Sheriff's Department, the East St. Louis Police Department, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, Justice Department Reaches Settlement with Pickens County, Ala., Board of Education to Eliminate Racial Disparities
