

12/21/2012 · 9:58 AM | EDIT

Even Jedi Need Training! (Family Law Jedi)

I recently had the opportunity to watch my children, and many others, participate in Jedi training. Jedi training included being introduced to having the proper attire and practicing offensive and defensive maneuvers with the light saber. The instructor, Lady Skywalker, also spent time on continued training by Master Yoda even after becoming a Jedi.

Similarly, attorneys are required to continue their training. Each year lawyers are required to have 12 hours of Continuing Legal Education, including at least one hour of Ethics. Typically lawyers attend a seminar or two, per year to receive their credit.

I frequently present at these seminars. I routinely speak on Family Law and have presented to the general public, lawyers and judges. I have conducted seminars aimed directly at other lawyers, training them on how to handle divorces, custody actions, and contempt in Mississippi. I have also presented “Know Your Rights” seminars on behalf of the Mississippi Volunteer Lawyers Project and the Mission First Legal Aid Office. I have presented seminars (GAL, appointed attorney to represent children) training sessions on how to perform Child Custody Evaluations and how to prepare a GAL report.

To excel at what you do you have to not only be competent, but to continue to get better. I am committed to this by frequently and routinely presenting at seminars and training sessions throughout the state on Family Law. I am a Family Law Jedi.

Thompson Law Firm, PLLC Matthew@wmtlawfirm.com (601) 850-8000

Rate this:

Rate This

Spread the Word:

Press This

Like 0

Share

Tweet 1

StumbleUpon

1

Print

Email

More