

How UK Lawyers Are Using Social Media

Are things really that different in the UK? Are lawyers in the UK and abroad using social media to make connections and bring in business? Or are UK lawyers too serious for Twitter?

This coming Friday, January 22nd at 10:30 AM EST (3:30 GMT) we will host our first international conference call sponsored by Martindale Hubble Connected. Joining us will be Community Manager Rory Webber or @MrRx as he is known on Twitter.

Two of the most prolific tweeters in the UK, Brian Inkster \(@BrianInkster on Twitter\) and Chris Sherliker \(@London Law Firm on Twitter\) will be joining us to set the record straight. Brian is a Solicitor from Scotland, Chris is a Partner with his firm in London. Together they are bringing thought leadership in social media to the UK market. Join us for a 45 minute conference call and conversation to learn how to get started on social media, and how to connect to international lawyers abroad. (Conference call MP3 posted above)

Chris Sherliker

Click Here to sign up for the call. Generally calls are held at 10:00 AM EST, but to accommodate the UK guests we are moving the call to 10:30 AM EST (3:30 GMT) for this week.

If you have questions for our guests, feel free to leave them as comments here, email them to info@adriandayton.com, or you can ask them in person on the call. Look forward to having you join us!

For the mp3 you can go to <http://adriandayton.com/audio/ukad.mp3> or simply listen to it below. There is a bit of an echo on my end, but our guests come through loud and clear so as they say in the UK, "have a listen."