New Zealand	At 11.59pm on 25 March 2020, New Zealand moved to Alert Level 4 on the COVID-19 alert system, for a period of at least 4 weeks. The Government also declared a State of National Emergency which provides the Government with access to other extra-ordinary powers to effectively respond to COVID-19. This is reviewed every seven days with the latest extension occurring on 14 April 2020 for a further seven days. At Alert Level 4, non-essential businesses are required to close their premises, but may operate remotely (e.g. with workers working from home) if they are able to do so. Businesses that provide both essential and non-essential business may only continue the essential aspect. The same applies for businesses that are part of the supply chain for essential businesses. What is considered an 'essential service' is constantly changing, and some activities currently not considered essential may become so depending on how long New Zealand remains at Alert level 4. To keep up with updates to the essential businesses list, click here.	As at 15 April 2020: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Supermarkets, dairies and convenience stores at service stations may remain open (dairies and convenience stores at service stations must institute a one-in-one-out rule, and cannot sell food that has been prepared or cooked on site – although pre-packaged food that needs to be heated may be sold). • Pharmacies and other health related services. • Licensing Trust liquor stores in the four areas where Licensing Trusts hold a monopoly (Invercargill, Waitakere, Portage and Maitaia) can operate with a one-in-one-out rule. • Businesses are able to sell essential non-food consumer products online or by phone, but must first notify MBIE of their intention to offer essential non-food products for sale and provide a list of the products they intend to offer. Businesses must take appropriate public health measures and orders must be home delivered in a contactless way. This will give more time for commercial tenants to pay any overdue rent before the landlord can cancel the lease. If the tenant is not able to bring the rent up to date, the tenant will have more time to approach the landlord about temporary changes to the rent	The government has prepared a package of relief initiatives to assist employers and employees affected by the COVID-19 restrictions. In broad terms: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Companies are eligible for the wage subsidy scheme if they can show that their business is (or will be) turning over at least 30% less revenue due to COVID-19. • The wage subsidy scheme provides businesses with a lump sum payment equal to the value of 12 weeks' pay at a flat rate of $585.80 per week (effectively the minimum wage) for each of their full time employees, regardless of whether the employees can work or not. There is no cap on the value of the sum offered. • Companies who receive the wage subsidy are obliged to pay all employees at least 80% of their ordinary wages for the 12 week period. In many cases, this will involve the company 'topping up' the wage subsidy to reach 80%. If a company is unable to top up the wage subsidy to 80%, it must at least pass on the value of the subsidy to its employees. • Employers who receive the wage subsidy 	The COVID-19 Response (Taxation and Social Assistance Urgent Measures) Bill was passed on 27th March 2020, and enacted measures in relation to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reintroduction of depreciation on commercial (non-residential) buildings. • Increase in the provisional tax threshold from $2,500 to $5,000. • Up-front deduction of low value assets - threshold increase. • Research & Development Tax Credit refundability. • Use of Money Interest relief - Inland Revenue can remit interest on late payment if the customer's ability to make payment was significantly adversely affected by the COVID-19 outbreak. • Amending Inland Revenue's ability to share information with other Government Departments. • Social assistance measures targeted at individuals, including the removal of the work hours eligibility requirement from the in-work tax credit, and extending Working for Families tax credit entitlement for emergency benefit recipients to people on a temporary visa. For more information from the IRD click here and here.	N/A

While mortgage holidays that are currently on offer are likely to be the first port of call, it may not be for all. Currently for mortgaged land, the mortgagee must give 20 working days' notice before the mortgagee exercises its power to take possession of, or sell, the mortgaged property. The Bill will extend this period to 40 working days. This will apply to all mortgages, whether for commercial or residential property. Once the Bill is passed, notices already issued that specified a shorter period than prescribed by the new rules, will be treated as specifying the new minimum period. This temporary change to provide relief to tenants and mortgagees affected by COVID-19 will allow for more time to get through this period until business can resume. The law will return to the current timeframes six months after the end of the end of the Epidemic Preparedness (COVID-19) Notice 2020 which was issued on 25 March 2020. The Government also announced a Business Finance Support Scheme which provides short-term credit to small and medium-sized firms affected by the crisis. The scheme will include a limit of $500,000 per loan and will apply to firms with a turnover of between NZD250,000 and NZD80 million per annum. The new measures include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A temporary loss carry-back scheme. • Changes to tax continuity rules. • $25 million in the next 12 months for further business consultancy support. • Greater flexibility for affected businesses affected to meet their tax obligations. • Measures to support commercial tenants and landlords. Click here for more information.
