

CORPORATIZE THE SYSTEM

Get the country back its pride we are responsible.

There are answers to combat corruption, but our nation is only going on a moralistic drive without realizing the practical difficulties and repercussions. Have we thought why is corruption rampant amongst government officials/public servants? The answer is simple because unfortunately they are being paid subsidized salaries as compared to their corporate counter parts plus there is a complete restriction from earning legitimate money from independent sources or having private practice. How can we allow such blatant discrimination which ofcourse leads to financial dissatisfaction and inturn make them prone to corrupt practices. Why cant we accept a public servant demanding fee for efficient execution of work instead of taking bribe. Are we saying we have a problem if a public servant is becoming rich? If not, please give them the flexibility to work on incentives. Let them charge their due fee which would be a predefined percentage of the value of the transaction. For eg if a thing worth 10,000 gets lost and a police official is given a duty to find it, would it be wrong if you pay him Rs. 1000 as a service charge for rendering efficient service which is also based on success?

This may help the nation combat corruption on the one hand and increase efficiency on the other? Last but not the least the entire income would be taxable thus benefiting the nation which would slowly start suffocating the black money from our economy.

For people below the poverty line there should be a quota where they get free government services on the basis of an identification code. We don't need a caste quota but we definitely need an economic quota in order to do complete justice to the nation as a whole. In my view corporatization of government system is the answer to keep things in order because only money can substitute money. Let the white legitimate fee substitute the black money menace called "bribe".

Corruption is a vicious circle and black money is the nucleus which takes a shape of bribe to promote corruption. Let us win over black money by converting it into white. Abolish the need for taking bribe or offering the same. Corporatize the system: Its a win win situation for all concerned. Our government stands to gain by way of taxes from the government officials which opens up the largest segment for earning tax, the officials stand to gain by way of additional and legitimate fee paid by the public and needless to mention, the public gets efficient services by paying due fee instead of unaccounted bribe for which they can claim benefit under the income tax act as expense as well. Not to mention the small issue of giving respectability and dignity back to the nation. Only money can be a substitute for money, we are only changing the colour of money to give it a legitimate shape. Convert black money into white to make ourselves and our country corruption free, rich and efficient. Get the country back its pride we are responsible.....

Lets all think together.

Monica Lakhanpal and Vaibhav Gaggar

monicalakhanpal@yahoo.co.in