

FMLA Insights

Guidance & Solutions for Employers

Proposed FMLA Regulations on Military Family Leave and Flight Crew Eligibility Published in Federal Register; We Need Your Feedback

By Jeff Nowak on February 15, 2012

Late last month, I reported that the Department of Labor had announced proposed changes to the Family and Medical Leave Act regulations with respect to Military Family Leave, Flight Crew FMLA Eligibility and the manner in which employers calculate increments of FMLA leave.

This morning, these proposed regulatory changes were published in the Federal Register (pdf), which means that the public has 60 days, or until April 16, 2012, to comment on them.

We strongly encourage you to make your voice heard about these proposed regulations. On behalf of our law firm, Franczek Radelet, and our employer clients, I intend to submit comments to the DOL. If you would like your thoughts, concerns and suggestions to be included in our comments, please let me know. Please email your comments to me at jsn@franczek.com by April 1, 2012 to ensure that we can incorporate them into our submission.

Tags: comment on proposed regulations, Federal Register, flight crew eligibility, Franczek Radelet, military family leave, proposed regulations, Regulatory Activity

Copyright © Franczek Radelet P.C. All Rights Reserved. Disclaimer: Attorney Advertising. This is a publication of Franczek Radelet P.C. This publication is intended for general informational purposes only and should not be construed as legal advice.