Late Night Emails to a Bankruptcy Attorney

By John Skiba, Arizona Bankruptcy Lawyer

www.skibalaw.com

When I opened my bankruptcy law practice here in the Phoenix area a while back I wanted to create a website where clients could easily communicate with me and learn about the bankruptcy process. In the morning when I check my emails often I get several emails from people needing to file bankruptcy.

What's interesting is the time when these emails were sent. They are usually sent after midnight and well into the early morning hours. I can imagine these people up late searching the web for anything that can solve their debt problems.

Debt is stressful. Owing money and not being able to pay it leads to many sleepless nights, deterioration of family relationships, contention in the home, and even medical problems. Worst of all, people lose hope that life will ever feel normal again.

When I see these emails coming in at 2:00 a.m. I understand the stress that my clients are going through. Maybe it is the stress of dealing with it all or maybe it is the lack of sleep, but total strangers who I have not met before bare their souls in these emails and almost cry out for help. The fact that I can help these people is what makes practicing bankruptcy law fulfilling.

If you are suffering through sleepless nights, wondering how in the world you are going to get out of the mess you find yourself in, give me a call. We can go over the specifics of your case and help you find a solution. You can be debt free. Debt free. Can you even imagine that? Give me a call at (480) 420-4028 or via email at john@skibalaw.com.

Image credit: Metrix X

Related posts:

1. Why I am Thankful to Be a Bankruptcy Lawyer in Arizona. (5.9)