

SENECA COUNTY CONSIDERS FUTURE OF FATAL FIRE'S SITE; FIRST STEP: DEMOLISHING BUILDING WHERE MOTHER AND CHILDREN DIED IN ARSON FIRE.(Local)

The Post-Standard

The Post-Standard (Syracuse, NY)

November 28, 2006

Byline: John Stith Staff writer

Seneca County officials are grappling with what to do with the site of a burned-out Romulus apartment house that was set on fire by a Lodi man in 2001. His wife and four children died in the fire.

"At this point, our major concern and first priority is to get it demolished," County Manager Sharon Secor said.

The building on Route 96 is across the road from Romulus Central Schools. Some people have suggested turning the site into a memorial park, Secor said, while others have suggested selling the property for private development.

Secor, County Attorney Steven Getman and town Supervisor David Kaiser said the

...