U.S. consumers owe about $2.5 trillion in consumer loans as of December 2011, $801 billion of which debt was owed for revolving accounts, mostly credit cards. As we recently reported, over $1 trillion in consumer debt in the U.S. is in seriously delinquent status.

The average credit card debt per household with credit card debt is around $15,800.

At Seidberg Law, we understand the magnitude of the consumer credit industry in the U.S., and the benefits it provides to consumers and businesses alike. We also understand the problems the industry faces when consumers and business customers fail to pay their debts.

A professional debt collection law firm can assist a bank or other creditor to collect delinquent accounts. Unlike a collection agency, a professional collection law firm is not limited to letters and phone calls. While letters and phone calls are often the first step we use in escalating the collection process, we also offer the complete range of legal remedies in addition to letters and phone calls.
