

What Is the Value of Your Personal Injury Case?

---

You may want to determine what your personal injury case value is before you are searching to hire a car wreck lawyer to represent your case to the insurer. This is often an essential question because sometimes insurance adjusters call you after the accident and offer you money for settlement of claims. In such scenarios, you might need to assess whether you would be able to earn more by filing compensation and insurance claims or by simply accepting the money from insurance adjusters. You should remember that you have to invest money in lawyer payment and other expenditures to file a compensations lawsuit. If you think that your troubles are worth more than what the insurance company is offer, you should decide on a personal injury lawyer because remember, insurance companies intends to give you as little as possible. The factors that determine the eligibility of your compensation claim in securing you financial compensation are reviewed in this article.

Whose Fault Is It?

Since the state of Texas follows the proportional comparative fault at 51% rule, it is crucial that you resolve beforehand whose fault the accident is. You could really use the assistance of a personal injury attorney in this case since determining the fault could be tricky business. The insurance adjusters determine the proportion of faults and if the adjusters determine your fault to be at 51% or more than you would not be able to receive any compensation for your claims. A personal injury attorney can help you negotiate with the insurance adjuster to determine your proportion of fault in such cases.

The Evidences and Witnesses

The evidences of a personal injury case are crucial factors in deciding on the eligibility of your case. Your vehicle accident attorney will be able to tell you how much your compensation claim and insurance policy is worth together if you have enough evidences and witnesses in your service. You ought to fairly document your evidences and arrange them properly to get an assessment of the total worth of your case. All the insurance policy documents, police records, medical records and photographic evidences together will determine the value of your case.

The Lawyer Fees

You would have to pay the lawyer also and that should be kept in mind while you are calculating the money in a personal injury case. Some lawyers charge a contingency fee, that means that you pay the lawyer only after the case is won, but you must be aware of the percentage of the, money you are about to pay the lawyer.