

Ban on Texting While Driving in Pennsylvania & New CDL Requirements

February 28, 2012 by Adam Santucci

Recently, members of McNees Wallace & Nurick LLC's Transportation, Distribution & Logistics Group issued an Alert containing two articles that will certainly be of interest to many employers. The Alert can be accessed by clicking here.

The first article, by Barbara A. Darkes, summarizes Pennsylvania's implementation of the new medical certification requirements for individuals holding Commercial Drivers Licenses.

The second article, by James J. Franklin, summarizes a new law which bans texting while driving on all Pennsylvania roadways effective March 9, 2012.

Employers should review these developments carefully and revise their policies as necessary.

Tags: Workplace Trends, driving, policy, texting

© 2012 McNees Wallace & Nurick LLC

This document is presented with the understanding that the publisher does not render specific legal, accounting or other professional service to the reader. Due to the rapidly changing nature of the law, information contained in this publication may become outdated. Anyone using this material must always research original sources of authority and update this information to ensure accuracy and applicability to specific legal matters. In no event will the authors, the reviewers or the publisher be liable for any damage, whether direct, indirect or consequential, claimed to result from the use of this material.