More tools. More solutions.

What if your problem isn't a nail?

Lawyers that specialize in using just one tool can have a very limited view of other options. At Funkhouser Vegosen Liebman & Dunn our lawyers go beyond narrow specialty practices and work hard to be knowledgeable in a number of legal areas. Sure it's harder, but developing comprehensive, overlapping knowledge means we can find more ways to achieve the results you need. Because if your lawyer sees every problem as a nail, maybe it's because all he knows how to use is a hammer.

“I met the President
in my pajamas.”

In 1963, law firms recruited men. But Sylvia Walbolt graduated first in her class, and we sought her out – and paid her the same as the men. She wanted to work parttime while she was pregnant on bed rest. So we installed a phone line in her bedroom – as she became the nation’s first “telecommuting” lawyer.

Running a multi-million-dollar antitrust action from her bedroom, she held a meeting with the President of Florida Power – in her pajamas. Sylvia later became one of the first women to appear in the Florida Supreme Court and then chaired Carlton Fields’s board of directors for seven consecutive terms.
